RELIGIOUS LIBERTY AND THE LAW

CHALLENGES FACING SCHOOLS IN A SECULAR SOCIETY HOW TO BE WISE AND YET HARMLESS

We have in recent years seen a worrying trend in schools and the teaching profession where people of religious persuasion have been labelled either homophobic or transphobic. In certain instances, disciplinary measures have been taken leading to dismissals for alleged 'professional misconduct'. The two presenters, using current legislation and case law will address the anomalies behind the definition 'Countering Extremism in all its forms', also the issues emanating from the interpretation of 'Fundamental British Values' and their ramifications on Religious Liberty Rights. Instructions, guidance and wise counsel for teachers, parents and students and all other interested people of faith will be given on how to avoid certain pitfalls in schools, whilst remaining true and steadfast to 'Fundamental Biblical Principles' in modern society.

Our Guest Speaker, ROGER KISKA is legal counsel at the Christian Legal Centre in London. He is both a Solicitor for England and Wales and a member of the Michigan State Bar. He has extensive experience before the European Court of Human Rights and has litigated at the Court of Justice of the European Union. Kiska frequently appears on television and radio including the BBC, Sky News, ITV, RT, LBC and Channel 5. In 2012, he was the recipient of the Scandinavian Human Dignity Award. He has served as an elected member of the European Union's Fundamental Rights Agency Advisory Panel. He has also published numerous scholarly articles and chapters in academic books.
